Individual Status Reports

1) Last week
We worked on creating a minimum viable product for the app we need to produce. The app implemented the base features that it needed to function.

2) This Week
This week, we decided on what features are needed for the final app product we are developing. We also decided on what issues need to be fixed for the app to have good functionality.

3) Next Week
We are going to continue working on the app development process. We are looking at fixing the presentation of the app by using CSS. We are also looking at fixing the calendar that the app displays so that it can be used properly.
